the same rights under the Government. But States have prior rights regardless of the Supreme Court. It will result just like the Saloons and the 18th. Amendment. And of course the Government wont attempt to enforce the decision. I can realize that with my nose or fingers or whatever I realize things with. Its all kept alive by people of previous generations. The young folks to day with exceptions of course here and there, dont resent the blacks anymore than the blacks resent the whites. So far as I am concerned let the Devil take the hindmost.

I have real problems of existence to face and live with.

I hope your new life is even better than you anticipated.

Affectionately.
